

The Rabbit and the Tiger

3B Chan Sze Chai Daven (3)

Once upon a time, a rabbit and a tiger lived in a jungle. The tiger was greedy whilst the rabbit was clever and intelligent. The tiger always wanted to take over the rabbit's home, so the rabbit thought of a superb plot.

The rabbit chatted with the hippos, "Please be my neighbours and I will help you brush your teeth for free." The hippos replied, "Yes! Why not?"

The tiger sneaked into the lawn of the rabbit's house and the rabbit felt calm. He called his neighbours for free tooth-brushing. The hippos opened their mouths wide, therefore, the tiger thought he hippos wanted to gobble him up. The tiger fled and did not dare to return.

Be resourceful to create a win-win situation.
